Market rankings expanded

The Market Ranking tables starting on page I-12 of this edition of the EDITOR & PUBLISHER MARKET GUIDE have been expanded this year to include the nine catagories that make up total retail sales — lumber/hardware, general merchandise, autos, gasoline, apparel, furniture, eating/drinking establishments and drugstores by Metropolitan Statistical Areas and by counties. These are additions to the rankings by population, disposable personal income, income per household, total retail and food sales for all cities and towns in which a daily newspaper is published and for all MSAs and counties that have been regularly featured.

The 1988 estimates used in these tables were made for Editor & Publisher this year by E&P Research Inc., an affiliate of Editor & Publisher Co. Inc., working with a data base provided by Woods and Poole Economics of Washington, D.C.

This new affiliation makes it possible for E&P to fullfill requests, such as we have had in the past, for computer tapes or diskettes of data from the Guide or to provide customized data for those who wish to order it.

We thank the daily newspapers of the U.S.A. and Canada for the data that they have provided about their markets that have made this MARKET GUIDE possible. Additional information about any of the markets listed may be obtained by contacting the newspaper or newspapers listed in item 14 of each market survey.

WHEN BUSINESS WANTS A COUNTRY HOME

Nowadays when corporations go looking for sites for new offices, plants or research facilities, they're seeking more than just accessibility, good space and reasonable cost. They want to be able to draw on a ready pool of capable personnel, and they look for on-site amenities and pleasant surroundings to keep both workers and executives contented. New England offers all of these.

Business, industry and research have increasingly favored New England's countryside for plant and office sites.

Construction and occupancy of such projects brings increasing millions of payroll dollars to New England, where retail sales per household, are highest in the nation, and daily newspaper coverage is close to saturation in many markets.

Each of the newspapers listed below will be pleased to help ascertain plant and office site information with marketing data for each of their markets.

For daily newspaper detail see the data in Section II, of this annual—"Surveys of Daily Newspaper Cities" with information pertaining to each market listing.

How to use the 1988 Editor & Publisher Market Guide

The data in this MARKET GUIDE is presented in four sections:

I — Market Ranking Tables

These tables show, ranked by size according to E&P estimates for 1988, the population, disposable income, income per household and total retail sales of all MSAs, PMSAs and the top 250 counties and cities of the U.S. New this year are the ranking tables for the 9 categories that comprise the total retail sales for all MSAs and the top 250 counties.

II — Individual Market Surveys—United States

Facts and figures about all United States daily newspaper markets, listed alphabetically by state and city in the U.S.A., followed by Puerto Rico. DEFINITIONS AND NOTES

ABC—Adjacent to certain population figures and newspaper circulations in the surveys in this book are references to the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The ABC issues standardized statements of the circulation of publisher members, verifies the figures shown in these statements by auditor's examination and disseminates the circulation data to advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Each publisher's statement and audit report issued to members covers the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods.

ADVERTISING & MERCHANDISING DATA—The daily newspaper is the prime source of information on local conditions in each of the newspaper market areas. The name, address and telephone number of people able to supply more information about these areas appear in paragraph 14 of each survey.

CIRCULATION FIGURES—The March 1987 figures appear in most of the surveys. Where March 1987 figures are not available, proper notation is made. Also indicated with the figure is whether the circulation is verified by ABC (Audit Bureau of Circulations), VAC (Verified Audit Circulation), CAC (Certified Audit of Circulations), or comes from a sworn statement by the publisher of the newspaper.

CITY ZONE (CZ)—The corporate limits of the city in which the newspaper is published, plus in some cases, the contiguous areas built up adjacent to or surrounding the city of publication. This could also include more than one city, where the areas involved are contiguous areas.

CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (CMSA)—The larger geographical area of which Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas are components. CMSA's are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas appears on the following pages.

CONSUMER SPENDABLE INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" below.

DISPOSABLE PERSONAL INCOME—Sometimes referred to as "Effective Buying Income" or "Consumer Spendable Income," is equal to current income received individuals, unincorporated business and non-profit institutions, from all sources. It includes all that is received as wages, salaries and commissions, including pensions, trust and welfare funds, labor, farm, non-farm, professional, rental, dividends, personal interest and transfer payments after taxes.

The amounts usually deducted for income, property, and other taxes not deductible as business expenses, as well as other general government revenues, such as fines, penalties, and so on, have been subtracted.

EFFECTIVE BUYING INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

ESTIMATES—Figures on which estimates are based are always U.S. Government figures (U.S. Census) or in Canada, the latest available Census figures from Statistics Canada. Any other figures are either identified as to source or are considered "local estimates."

FARM DATA—County Data: The figures used in these tables for the counties are the latest released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The most recent agriculture census was made in 1982.

State Data: State totals of crops and livestock are released annually by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. State totals used in these tables are from the most recent USDA Statistical Bulletin. Footnotes at the bottom of each table show the year and source of data.

HOUSEHOLDS—Not to be confused with "families." The term "household" corresponds to "private dwelling unit" as defined in the Census Bureau's current operations, which would include all persons occupying a house or an apartment together.

INCOME PER HOUSEHOLD (DISPOSABLE INCOME)—The total average income earned or received by each household with direct or indirect taxes deducted.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA)—A large population nucleus with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration within that nucleus. Metropolitan Statistical Areas are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas, with explanation of the standards applied to their designation, appears in the following pages.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING AREA (OR DISTRICT)—Indicates specific street locations of active retail trade.

NEWSPAPER DESIGNATED MARKET (NDM)—The geographical area which a newspaper considers to be the market it serves. Publisher members have the option of reporting circulation according to just the new NDM or in combination with a City Zone and/or Retail Trading Zone figure.

PASSENGER AUTOS—These figures are obtained from the various state departments of motor vehicles, where available, and generally on a county basis. However, in some states, no county breakdown is available. Motor vehicle figures in Canada are obtained from the Transportation and Communications Division of Statistics Canada.

PERSONAL INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (PMSA)—A Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) of more than 1 million population which meets additional social and economic requirements and, together with one or more other PMSAs, forms a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA). For more information, see explanation on following pages.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATE TABLES—Based upon the lastest available (1982) U.S. Department of Commerce Census of Retail Sales, brought up-to-date, with considerations given to conditions and developments since the Census figures were collected.

Sales and "Kinds of Retail Stores" (as well as estimates) are reported as in the Bureau of Census reports, by type of store in which the sales are made (using the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions, all listed in this volume) rather than by the products sold. For example, many non food items are sold in food stores.

The sum of the nine types of stores will not add up to the total of retail sales estimates for each area since there is also a miscellaneous classification of stores not included in these tables.

In some areas (cities or counties), retail sales per household exceed the figures shown for total income per household. This is because of the influence or attraction an area may have on the shopping patterns or habits of those who live adjacent to or outside it.

RETAIL TRADING ZONE (RTZ)—The area beyond the City Zone whose residents regularly trade to an important degree with the retail merchants in the City Zone. In establishing the boundaries of the RTZ, consideration is given to the transportation facilities, traffic flow, traveling time and schedules by both public facilites, private cars and common carriers; as well as charge accounts, phone orders and regular delivery service from the central or City Zone to the outlying areas.

SHOPPING CENTER—The term is intended to apply to developments with a number and a variety of stores, including chains, supermarkets or banks, with extensive parking facilities, and located on or near a main highway.

STATISTICS CANADA—Canadian Government agency in Ottawa reponsible for all official statistics covering population, retail sales, etc.

STORES—Stores are typed according to the definition of the 1982 U.S. Census of Business (Retail Trade) which use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions.

SUPERMARKET—This term involves these three conditions: annual sales volume of at least $1 million; four departments — dairy, meat, produce and groceries; and a grocery department that is entirely self-service.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATES

The basis for kind-of-business classifications used in the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is the same as that used by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Census of Retail Trade. This follows the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972.)

The 1982 Census of Retail Sales conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce was a gigantic task and required considerable time for evaluation and tabulation. The 1982 Census is the basis for the Retail Sales Estimates included in the 1988 edition. However, strict comparison of the data for both the 1977 and 1982 census is limited by the following factors:

Geographic boundaries of a number of areas for which data are shown in the 1982 census are not the same as in the 1977 census because of annexations, other boundary changes, redefinitions of SMSA's, and changes in qualifying criteria since 1977. For 1982, data for census-defined, unincorporated places are no longer shown separately but are included as part of the "remainder of county" statistics.

In the 1977 census, and prior to that, the combined data for all establishments were presented for selected kind-of-business classifications, including all 2-digit major industry groups. For these, data for nonemployer firms were obtained from administrative records of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) based on business tax returns. For 1982, data for nonemployers and combined data for all establishments are presented only at the retail trade total level for all geographic areas.

For your quick reference, we provide a complete list of the major group classifications of stores included in the Tables of Estimated Retail Sales in Section IV; the Miscellaneous Retail Stores category in this list is not included in the Tables. Numbers following names are SIC codes; PT following the SIC codes refers to "part"; n.e.c. refers to "not elsewhere classified."

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS
(MSAs, PMSAs and CMSAs)

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS are defined according to a set of detailed standards prepared by the Federal Committee on MSAs which advises the Office of Management and Budget. These standards are periodically reviewed in connection with each Decennial Census of Population.

The general concept underlying the MSA is that of a geographic area consisting of a large population nucleus together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus.

An MSA includes one city of at least 50,000 or more inhabitants or an urbanized area of at least 50,000 with total metropolitan population of at least 100,000. MSAs are defined in terms of entire counties; each MSA has one or more central counties, containing the area's main population concentration. In addition to the county (or counties) containing the main city (or cities), an MSA may also include outlying counties which have close economic and social relationships with the central counties. Such counties must meet certain standards regarding "metropolitan character," such as population density, and must have a specified level of commuting to the central county(ies). For example, counties with a commuting rate of 50 percent or more must have a population density of at least 25 persons per square mile. When the commuting rate is lower than this, the density requirement proportionately increases.

In the six New England states, however, MSAs are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than entire counties. Because smaller areas are used, the total MSA population requirement is reduced from 100,000 to 75,000.

The official title of an MSA always includes the state or states into which it extends and the name of the largest city in that MSA. It might include several cities — as many as three — all dependant upon relative and minimum populations of the central city and other cities in the MSA. When more than one city appears in the MSA title, they are usually ordered by their relative populations.

In total, there are 265 recognized MSAs and 21 CMSAs, consisting of 73 PMSAs. Most MSA definitions are not subject to change until after the next national census. However, a few new MSAs may be added each year, usually because additional cities have reached the 50,000 population level according to official population estimates.

An area with more than 1 million population may be defined as a PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA. A PMSA is a large urbanized county or a cluster of counties that exhibit very strong social and economic links. Local opinion, obtained through Congressional delegation, is also a very strong factor in determining if an area will be designated a PMSA. The specific standards for defining PMSAs are as follows:

1. The area must include at least one county that has a population of more than 100,000;
2. At least 60 percent of this county's population must be classified as urban;
3. Less than 50 percent of its workers commute to jobs outside of the county.

The larger area of which all PMSAs are component parts is defined as a CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA.

MSAs in New England have been combined to form NEW ENGLAND COUNTY METROPOLITAN AREAS (NECMA).

The complete criteria used in defining metropolitan statistical areas can be obtained directly fom the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230.

EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S MARKET RANKINGS

Leading U.S. cities, counties and metropolitan statistical areas ranked according to EDITOR & PUBLISHER estimates for 1988

This year Editor & Publisher has once again compiled market-ranking tables to help advertising and marketing executives plan programs for the coming year. These tables have been a feature of the E&P Market Guide since they first appeared in the 1964 edition.

The rankings, based on E&P estimates for 1988, are shown for: population, disposable personal income, income per household and total retail sales, as they have been since 1964.

This year, we have also added new ranking tables — at the MSA and county level — for the nine categories that make up total retail sales, and they are as follows: lumber/hardware, general merchandise, food, auto, gasoline, apparel, furniture, eat/drink and drugs.

Rankings are provided for all cities or communities in the United States in which newspapers are published on a daily basis, for all counties whether daily newspapers are published in them or not, and for all metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

The tables are tabulated by computer and are based on the 1980 U.S. Census and the 1982 Census of Business, and 1988 research estimates by E&P Research, Inc.

Any number. If it's from any of the Chicago Tribune Marketing and Research Services brochures shown here, chances are that number will reveal secrets about the Chicago consumer market you didn't know. Such as what kind of new cars Chicagoans are planning to buy. . . which financial consumers are willing to make high risk investments. . . how executive decision makers are impacting the purchasing patterns of their companies. . . the reasons behind consumer retail preferences. . . and last but not least, who of these Chicago area adults are reading — and being influenced by — the Chicago Tribune.

We've got lots of numbers . . .
from various studies and surveys, and they're all waiting to be picked by smart marketers who want to understand the Chicago market better than their competition. So reach for the phone, call the Chicago Tribune Marketing and Research Services Division, and get the best of the pickings.

Discover Florida's Best

St. Petersburg Times
FLORIDA'S BEST NEWSPAPER

When your marketing plans cover Florida, make sure you discover Florida's best — the Tampa Bay metropolitan area and the St. Petersburg Times.

In a recent Lou Harris poll, the Tampa Bay area was judged as the best market in Florida in which to start or relocate a business. Nationally, this dynamic metro area was rated third.

Nationally ranked as the 20th largest metro area, Tampa Bay enjoys more population, more households and more buying income than any other Florida market.

And, where else but in Florida's best market would you find Florida's best newspaper — the St. Petersburg Times. In Tampa Bay, more readers turn to the Times than any other newspaper. In the metro area, 663,400 adults read the daily Times, while 733,700 adults read the Sunday Times.

In Tampa Bay, the Times delivers:
◇ More college educated adults
◇ More upper income households
◇ More chief wage earners
◇ More principal food shoppers
◇ More home owners

So, if you want to do more business in Tampa Bay, do business with the Times. You'll discover why we're Florida's best!

What good is high technology when 1 out of 5 workers can't read?

Everyday, American business invests in highly technical equipment designed for the demands of the 21st century. Yet millions of its workers are barely equipped to function in the 20th century . . . simply because they're illiterate.

Twenty-seven million American adults cannot read or write. That's one adult in five, and probably, a shocking number of your employees.

What does illiteracy cost you? Get out your calculator. Illiteracy accounts for over 50% of our unemployment. It robs us of billions in lost productivity, swells our welfare costs, and diminishes our tax revenues. Illiteracy diminishes your community, too. It saps it of its most basic resource . . . the potential of its own people.

What can your company do? It can join in local efforts to fight illiteracy. It can make itself a resource in your community, volunteering dollars and company facilities for better adult education and tutoring programs.

The first step is to call the Coalition for Literacy at 1-800-228-8813. To make a contribution or to obtain our free brochure, write to the Coalition for Literacy, Business Division, P.O. Box 81826, Lincoln, NE 68501-1826. Do it today. No investment your company has ever made is more important.
